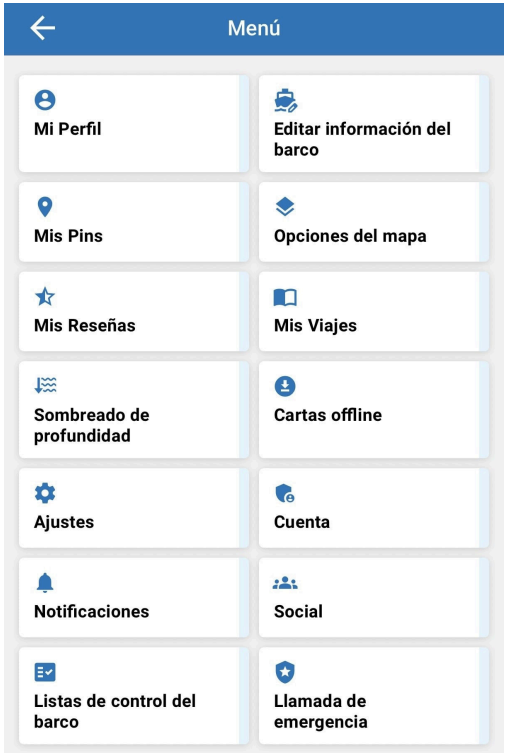
What's New this Week

Argo Now Speaks Spanish and Portuguese

Boating with family or friends who'd rather read the app in Spanish or Portuguese? Now they can.

Argo is now available in Spanish and Brazilian Portuguese. There's nothing to change in the app. It follows your phone's language setting, so if your phone is set to Spanish or Portuguese, Argo switches automatically.



Other New Features:

- Real-time tide and current stations were added and can be located using search. Also, tide variance now uses these live stations when available.

- Found water shallower than your chart shows? You can now drop a Depth Report pin and log the exact depth right where you found it.
- Tap a wreck, obstruction or rock to see its type, name, water level and surveyed depth

Beta Testers Wanted

Heading to the Caribbean This Winter?

We're looking for a small group of boaters to help us test Argo's Caribbean charts. If you'll be cruising the Caribbean this season, tell us when and where you're headed.

Spots are limited, so we may not be able to include everyone. We'll reach out by email if you're selected.

The Art of the Pivot: How Navigation Apps Make Cruising More Flexible

It starts out as one of those beautiful cruising days. Then dark clouds build on the horizon, the wind picks up, and that destination you planned for doesn't look so appealing anymore.

Aboard their DeFever 44, Stinkpot, Stacey and Captain Dave use Argo on separate devices to find a closer, calmer anchorage without taking over the helm screen. Here's how they decide when it's time to change the plan.

Dustin Kidd and Marc Crutcher's Record Great Loop

Most boaters take a year or more to run the Great Loop. Dustin Kidd and Marc Crutcher did it in 11 days, 21 hours and 51 minutes, a new record.

They left Kentucky Dam on September 6 aboard White Lightning, a 26-foot Highfield RIB, and crossed their own wake on September 18. That beat the old record by more than 20 hours.

Captain Dave caught up with Dustin at the Argo booth at the AGLCA Fall Rendezvous. Congrats to them both!

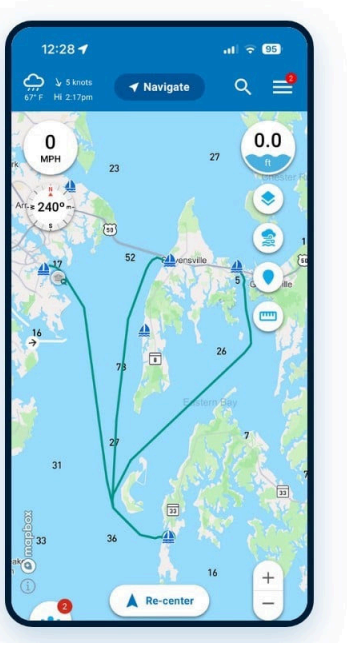
Quick Tip

Keep Your Favorite Routes on the Map

Planning a few options for the same trip? You don't have to open them one at a time.

You can show several saved routes and tracks on the chart at once, then pick the one that fits the day once you're on the water.

To try it, open My Trips and tap On Map on each route or track you want to see. They are displayed using your customized route and track colors. Need a refresher? Tap the "?" next to the On Map button for a quick walkthrough.



Argo Live

Replay: Fishing Episode

Missed this month's live? Austin Emerson, mate on the Bob Harvey Fishing YouTube channel, joined Captain Jeff, Nick Gaffney of SpotOn Fishing, and Dave Rowe to talk fishing with Argo and SpotOn.
