Here's what we've got for you this week:

- What's New: More of Argo, Available Offline
- On the Blog: Boating for Beginners: What to Know Before You Leave the Dock
- Community Spotlight: An Afternoon on the Water
- Quick Tip: Check the Age of USACE Survey Data
- What Boaters Are Saying: "The Best Boating App EVER!"

What's New this Week

More of Argo, Available Offline

Lose service on the water? More of the information you need in Argo is now ready when you're offline.

For Premium users, tide/current station icons and forecast data are now available offline, just like your other chart data.

Your routes, tracks, and trips are also automatically downloaded to your device when you open Argo, so they'll be there when you need them without a connection.

On the Blog

Boating for Beginners: What to Know Before You Leave the Dock

Getting behind the helm for the first time can feel familiar, but operating a boat is very different from driving a car.

This week, Captain Dave covers what every new boater should know before leaving the dock, from learning how your boat handles to understanding weather, navigation, safety, and the Rules of the Road.

Community Spotlight

An Afternoon on the Water

The Argo team traded the office for the water and spent an afternoon boating with Chronic Sailing.

Come along for the ride, see some of the day, and enjoy a little time on the water with us.

Quick Tip

How Recent Is That Survey?

Looking at USACE survey data and want to know when it was collected?

Long-press on the survey area to see the survey date. It's a quick way to check how recent the Army Corps data is before using it to plan your trip.

What Boaters Are Saying...

This Argo user highlighted something we love hearing: it's easy to use, even if you're not especially comfortable with technology.
